

Advanced Naturopathic Applications of Frequency Specific Microcurrent

FREE Advanced clinical workshop for FSMC graduates

Are you using your Frequency Specific Microcurrent machine to its maximum potential?

Join us for the seminar that all FSMC Practitioners have been waiting for – a clinically focused discussion of the applications of FSMC to common Naturopathic Protocols.

This four hour afternoon workshop will explore new and different applications for FSMC frequencies. The presentation will help Practitioners combine FSMC and nutritional protocols to:

- Explore direct ways to address immune imbalances
- Address energy balance and better understand how FSMC affects energy flows within the body
- Achieve outstanding results for digestive health
- Address the major drivers of immune dysfunction, poor energy production and digestive disorders
- Devise more comprehensive treatment protocols for any condition your patients may be presenting with

Successful FSMC Practitioners have discovered the secret to effective FSMC treatment results time after time. It lies in the diagnostic ability and treatment techniques of the Practitioner. Do you feel you could be getting better results for your patients with immune, energy and digestive complaints?
